Title: Thinking of you

happy day, rest day
waterfront I wonder what will happen to you.
when I see the infinite, are you there distance are no longer distant because when I think of you I feel that someday we'll be together

happy day, rest day
against the tree that will be asked of you.
When you look at the sky these there because I know some day you can touch is that when I think of you blackest day becomes light.

Title: Japanese woman
Author: Alcides Gonzalez

one night I was sad, you never thought would find but never imagined I would be the end of the world
Japanese woman oh
I would like to cross the seas to be with you
Japanese woman oh
what will happen long before this happens but, I know if I fight so you can meet Oh Japanese woman
your dance inspires me to keep dreaming and keep writing
Oh Japanese woman
Even though you are at the end of the world, my soul is with you.

Title: the long and short path

the cold night makes me think two ways of my life, one long and one short.
My mind flies to the future, that future that I dream.
I decided to take the long way, thinking that love is not a priority.
but I want the end of that long road she still wait for me.
two souls were in one or three years only if fate allows.
while she was always dreaming under the stars.
I do not want to live a future without those eyes that I love.
but there is time. Japanese woman , some day Oh we'll go to see and together we will complete our destinies.

Poem: my love
Author: Alcides Gonzalez

your eyes are like a waterfall found in the desert
your mouth is soft and thin as a sheet of sakura.
your hair is as beautiful as a night with stars.
if you were near, we'd be in that eternal night with stars.
waiting for the dawn and together in our wonderful game.
Two worlds diferenes one soul.

Poem: Promise
By : Alcides Gonzalez

Here on this side of the world is night, in the sky can only see stars, so bright as you or more, promise a rosy world would be false, promise you the moon download to enlighten your palace would be absurd, but promise you my heart, my soul and loyalty to you that would be your greatest reward. Oh beautiful woman that you are beyond the seas and continents, promise to love you for eternity would be a blessing

Poem: Looking to the moon.

Author: Alcides Gonzalez.

Looking at the moon is me

Among many lights I found you

From you I embellishes

Looking at the moon is me

Among all the lights are the brightest that

You said your light was especially for me

You left my sight

And you can not see you

Your in my chaos that alumbrabastes

Is lonely

So look at the moon

To see if I can still see

Because without you I can not believe.
